THE HISTORY OF THE WALNUT LOUNGE

Established in 1927 alongside the opening of La Jolla Beach & Yacht Club, the Walnut Lounge was first known as the "Mayan Lounge." Designed by English Architect and author Robert Stacey-Judd, the design pulled inspiration from Mayan and Aztec architecture and was heavily influenced by the Art Deco movement.

The Mayan Lounge featured thick wood-beam ceilings, tiled floors, and imposing arches.

In the 1960's the lounge was modernized and the walnut wood panels that gave it its current name were added.

Today, the Walnut Lounge has once again gone through a transition, but carries on the nearly century-old tradition of being an enclave for members and guests to unwind amongst idyllic ocean views.
